

Experimental Photography open air exhibition 3 – 16 October

An international exhibition of experimental photography will be coming to central Bristol at the Outdoor Gallery of the Peoples Republic of Stokes Croft on Jamaica St from the 3rd to the 16th of October.

Internationally acclaimed photographer Millee Tibbs will be exhibiting giant versions of her work.

Her images are an investigation of traditional idealised landscape - the kind that is easily consumable and often commodified.

The work has been chosen and curated by Justin Quinnell, from over thirty presentations at the recent Experimental Photography Festival in Barcelona.

Millee Tibbs is Professor of Photography at Wayne State University, Detroit. She holds an MFA in Photography from the Rhode Island School of Design. She is the recipient of two MacDowell Colony fellowships, as well as multiple national and international artist residency awards.

Her work has been published by the Humble Arts Foundation, NYC and the Aperture Foundation, and is held in the permanent collections of the George Eastman Museum, Detroit Institute of Arts and the Chrysler Museum.

Further information can be found on Millee's Website at: <https://www.milleetibbs.com/>

As well as Millee's work there will be images from the directors of the Real Photography Company who will be installing the work. The opening on the 3rd will be preceded by talks from the directors of the Experimental Photography Festival in Barcelona and from Millee herself.
